

Discussions and Communication in Google Classroom

Google Classroom has some great ways for students and teachers to communicate with each other.

First, make sure your settings allow for students to comment on posts. Click the settings icon on the top right corner in Google Classroom.

Scroll down to “General” settings and make sure you have selected that students can comment. (You will need to do this for each class you teach.)

Option I: Class Discussions

Go to the “Stream” tab of your Google Classroom.

Type your message to your class. It is automatically set so that it goes to all students in the class you are working in. Click “Post” when you are ready for students to see it!

A screenshot of the "Share with your class" dialog box in Google Classroom. At the top, it says "For" and has two dropdown menus: "Classroom" and "All students". Below this is a large text input field with the placeholder "Share with your class". At the bottom, there is a "Cancel" button, a "Post" button, and a dropdown arrow. A menu is open under the "Add" button, showing options: "Google Drive", "Link", "File", and "YouTube". The text "your class here" is visible in the background.

Click “Add” to include a file or image in your post for your students!

Students can add a class comment and contribute to group discussion by commenting on the post that you have shared.

Mute John Doe

If a student is responding inappropriately, you can delete the comment and “mute” the student in Google Classroom. Just click the 3 vertical dots and choose which action you want to take.

Option 2: Small Group Discussions

When you go to your “Stream” and share a post, click the “All Students” dropdown and click which students you want to be included in the discussion.

Only the students you check will be able to see and respond to the post. Great for smaller groups of discussions. You can still monitor conversations, and it allows for students to feel more heard.

Option 3: One-on-one discussion

You can use the previous option to click on one individual student to have a discussion with them.

Or, on any assignment that has been posted, students can post a private comment. Teachers can also use the private comment to post feedback on an assignment.

Option 5: Google Docs or Google Slides

If you assign a student or a group of students work on a Google Doc or Google Slide, you can communicate using the comment section.

Hover on the right side of the document and click the plus sign. Add comments, and even tag students by using the @ symbol before their email address.

Also make a comment by clicking the speech bubble at the top. You can access all comments here as well.

As the teacher, you can put yourself in editing, suggesting, or viewing mode.
